Dear Roger:

The poll for Ivy arrived here at the start of last week which happened to be our first exam week. I apologize for the fact that I have not replied to this sooner, but I have had all my exams this week and consequently have done nothing for the station.

Ivy has the results of a poll which we took last fall, asking very much the same questions that are on this one. I refuse to ask the members here to conduct something like this during the examination period, and I know that I would have received very little cooperation.

I am sorry about this, but will be more than happy to conduct a poll when there is time.

Have a good summer; I look forward to seeing you again.

Sincerely,

Clinton C. Brooks
